To Complete E. Bethel Road --Contribute to Hospital

A gathering of about a hundred voters gave serious consideration to the articles making up the warrant for annual town meeting in Bethel Monday forenoon and decided to increase the conservative recommendations of the Budget Committee by $255. These appropriations were a boost from $35 to $40 in the amount required for the Collector's bond, from $30 to $200 for Civil Defense and $100 for hand instruments where no money was advised.

The first added expense was a 25 percent increase in the pay of Road Commissioner, from $100 to $125 an hour; and a boost from $600 to $700 per day for Selectmen. Compensation of other officials remains as last year: Treasurer, $500 a year; Clerk, $75.00 a year; and Health Officer, $35.00 a year. The bid of Loton Hutchinsin of 1 1/2 percent for collecting taxes and 15 cents for each excise tax receipt issued is the same as for several years past.

Superintendent Christie spoke in favor of the recommendation of the Budget Committee in raising money for clearing and grading the new school lot this year as there is a balance available from last year's appropriation.

The suggested contribution of $600 to the Rumford Community Hospital aroused the first conflict. Thomas Brown's motion to pass over the article, brought forth explanation of the hospital's needs by Robert Hastings and Philip Chadbourne, members of the budget committee who had been in conference with a representative of the hospital. The hospital has tried to meet half its $20,000 annual deficit by appealing to nearby towns for funds, generally on a basis of 50 cents per capita. In Bethel the rate is 33 cents. Voting with a show of hands, Moderator Hastings announced that the motion to pass over was defeated. This was doubted by Hugh Thurston who asked for a Yes and No ballot. On written ballots the result was 21 Yes and 46 No. On motion of Herbert Rowe it was decisively voted to appropriate the $600.

On the motion of Harold G. Bennett it was voted to raise $150 for state aid road construction and to complete the road from the foot of Pine Hill to the Rumford line a distance of about 2200 feet.

The question of discontinuing the old road leading from Swan's Corner to Route 2 was discussed by Stanley Roberts, Robert Blake and Addison Saunders. It was decided to pass over the article.

The pleas of Harold Conner and Mrs. Everett Merrill were of no avail in reversing the recommendation of the Budget Committee to pass over the article on construction of a sewer from the home of Everett Merrill to Mill Brook. It was the understanding of the Committee that the law does not allow entrance of new sewers into streams.

George Taylor explained the needs of the local Civil Defense organization and the amounts advised by the State authorities, as the voters followed his motion to raise $200.

The recommendation to pass over the article on sidewalks brought forth explanation from Robert Hastings, who referred to the balance available this year. Richard Waldron spoke of the coming need for sidewalks on Mason Street.

Appointment of a School Survey Committee of nine members to work in conjunction with the School Committee was finally favored although some believed it to be a duplication of Budget Committee functions. The voters also favored calling a special meeting to arrange for Social Security benefits for town employees.

Richard Barbour, supervisor of roads, told of the progress of grant money school pupils in formation of a band and orchestra and the need of several instruments not currently bought by students on the motion of Wilbur Myers $100 was appropriated for the purpose.

Careless Users—Not Matches
Real Cause of Unwanted Fires

If a common match could speak, it might well warn: "I have a head, but no brains—so use your head when using mine!"

Considering that Americans light 200 billion matches a year—nearly a million every minute—it's advice worth keeping in mind; also, is the fact that matches don't cause unwanted fires—only careless users do.

To assure safety and quality of matches, American manufacturers subject them to a total of 37 research and control tests. Wood and paper are carefully selected so the splints have proper strength and stiffness; the splints are impregnated to prevent "afterglow" and the hazard of falling embers; match heads are watched for "over" and "under" sensitivity—so on striking they don't ignite too easily or require too much pressure; to ignite American matches, at least 300 degrees (F) is required—heat not enough to bake cookies; no poisonous ingredients are used in U. S. matches; and tests by independent laboratories prove that the chemicals in present day matches are distasteful to rats and mice—that even when starving these rodents will not gnaw matches and so start fires.

Most common violations of match safety by users, according to authorities, are the following: Discarding a match after lighting without making sure the flame is extinguished; permitting young children easy access to matches; storing matches on the kitchen range, or other "hot spot"; failure to heed the 40-year-old warning on book matches—"Close cover before striking match"; and the habit of some smokers who hold the top of the book close to the flame of a match when lighting a cigarette, cigar, or pipe, thus making a flue which might ignite the whole book.

So . . . "Play safe! Always respect fire!"

New Super-Carrier Forrestal
Adds Punch to Navy's Power

The new super-carrier, the James V. Forrestal, will be the Navy's contribution to the formula of striking power plus mobility which is the essence of American military strength today, says a Major George Fielding Elliot.

The huge floating air base, which will take three years to build and will cost $218 million, is the logical result of the development of the aircraft which it serves, according to Major Elliot. The flight decks of modern carriers have had to be increased in size to take care of the high landing speeds and larger size of jet propelled aircraft.

A carrier is a concentrated power. The visitor who goes aboard such a ship for the first time gets an initial impression of utter confusion compounded by enormous size. There thousands of officers and men or thereabouts busily perform hundreds of highly specialized tasks involving almost every conceivable mechanical, electrical and technical specialty.

Up top, the flight deck is some 30 acres of plank-sheathed steel. According to Major Elliot, an aircraft on land would require something like 140 acres to handle aircraft of the number, size, and characteristics which a big carrier must handle.

The vast, echoing gloom of the hangar deck below may remind one of Mammoth Cave—and compares with it in height and width. Down below are turbines which develop the more than a quarter of a million horsepower required to drive the great carrier through surging seas at express train speed.

Taming the Titan

Chemical and metallurgical engineers in laboratories all over the country are grappling with the intriguing and exasperating problems involved in the use of titanium as an engineering metal. This "new" material was actually discovered as a chemical element in the year that George Washington was inaugurated first president of the United States, but its peculiar characteristics—especially its resistance to separate in pure form from its ores—have prevented it until lately, from being exploited.

Now titanium's days as a laboratory curiosity are over. Military engineers see in its combination of strength with lightness an opportunity to improve substantially the mobility and transportability of combat equipment. Aeronautical engineers anticipate that, when all feasible application of titanium alloys are made, the weight of heavy planes can be reduced by from one to five tons.

Rink Stains

Most stains on the sink can be removed with a mild abrasive. Rink stains are best removed by treating with an acid. Vinegar or lemon juice may be used, but dilute hydrochloric acid is more effective. A bleaching solution, such as Javelle water, is also quite effective in removing general stains from porcelain. It is more difficult to remove stains from the tray, since the color tends to penetrate into the plastic. Soap and water, with a mild abrasive, and perhaps lemon juice, might be of some help. Unfortunately, active organic solvents would be likely to dissolve the colloidal itself, and hence they cannot be used.

Panmunjom Might Be Just Another Korean Village

Panmunjom, site of the Korean truce talks, is a tiny village on the main road from Seoul to Kaesong. It is scarcely more than a huddle of thatched houses on the bank of a muddy stream. The road jumps the stream at Panmunjom. Hills rise steeply on either side of the battered, burned-out town. Once, before there was a military pontoon bridge blocking the way, for rafts floated by on their journey from the mountains to the wide meeting point of the Han and Imjin Rivers farther south.

Even the town's name is obscure, being translated variously as "the gateway of the raft," or "the inn with the wooden door." Were it not for the Korean war, Panmunjom might be any one of the thousands of valley villages in the "Land of the Morning Calm." Yet now the eyes of the world are turned upon this country hamlet where truce talks between United Nations and Communist leaders are carried on. Six miles due west is Kaesong, where on August 23 the talks broke down. Seoul is about 40 road miles northwest. Between the two lie some of the richest rice lands of western Korea, where men and oxen work in mud-splashed fields below a skyline of jagged hills.

Where to Find Serenity

SERENITY is something more than a desirable human quality. Seen in its right light, it is the active expression of the assurance of God's presence and power. The Bible places it as one of the means of obtaining strength. We read (Isaiah 30:15), "In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength." Such quietness is neither ineffective apathy nor indifference, but is based on the certainty that good is ever available.

Isaiah says further (32:17), "The work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness quietness and assurance for ever." This emphasis on right thinking and right acting points to the fact that only through obedience to Principle does one attain peace.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, begins her poem "Mother's Evening Prayer" with the beautiful words (Poems, p. 41), "O gentle presence, peace and joy and power." What a perfect description of serenity is this! To feel this gentle presence we must love God and stay close to Him, conscious that He watches over us and gives us abundantly of His inexhaustible supply of good.

Man, God's beloved creation, is always the object of Love's bounty. God, Spirit, is the only cause or creator, and man is the perfect effect of the one perfect cause. Hence he is not material and subject to the limitations of mortality, but is spiritual, harmonious, and free.

We cannot be unhappy when we see that we are governed by the same Principle which keeps the stars in order. We cannot feel insecure when we understand that Spirit is eternal substance, and that man, being spiritual, reflects the stability and permanence of spiritual being.

As the expression of Soul, man is not influenced by changing moods. Mind never fluctuates, and Mind's idea, man, cannot be unlike eternal, immutable Mind. It is false mortal belief which outlines ups and downs. Human consciousness must be convinced of the need for denying all forms of error: the chaste after material success; the estate enhancement of acquisitiveness; infatuation, clinging itself to the past as well as the downward tendencies of crime, ignorance, and disease. Loosening the clasp of the so-called mortal mind enables one to demonstrate the composure of clear, intelligent thinking. This lifts the concept of serenity from that of inactivity to that of a vital, living force.

Christ Jesus was able to walk through the evil days of the crucifixion because he had the assurance of the resurrection. He was calm because he knew and trusted the Father. Unexcited he faced the hatred of the carnal mind. Though sometimes sad, he was never frantic and fearful. He pointed the way to inner peace when he said (Luke 17:21), "The kingdom of God is within you."

We must guard against the noisy clamor of mortal mind and keep our thoughts quietly listening if we would hear the still small voice of Truth. God speaks not with a burst of emotion; and though Truth works instantly to accomplish its purpose, it never explodes. When God speaks to man, there is an understanding which eliminates doubt, removes tension, and heals. Spiritual listening encourages spiritual growth, while constantly heeding the false suggestions of mortal mind makes a hollow, miserable mortal, mesmerized by the dream of substance and beauty in matter.

May all who seek God find the same serenity which must have blessed the disciples after Jesus' stilling the tempest. Truly, the Christ continues to still the tempest of fear and confusion, and instead of a storm is felt the benevolent healing. - The Christian Science Monitor.

Light and Metal

Light can cause metal to move. Light exerts pressure and can cause actual motion of an object. It is this pressure of light on the small particles that make up the tail of a comet that pushes them away from the sun so that the tail of a comet is always away from the sun whether it is approaching or receding. This effect may be shown in a laboratory experiment, in which a concentrated beam of light, shining on one end of a small metal strip suspended on a thread, causes the metal to turn around.

A STORY is told of a certain holy man long ago who wanted to convince a pagan of the folly of worshipping idols. He took him to a stone god through which the devil often would project his voice to speak to those who came with petitions.

Standing before the idol, the holy man kept his hands behind him. In one hand he had a small bird. He asked the idol: "Is the bird in my hand dead or is it alive?" His plan was to crush the bird to death if the devil said it was alive, and to bring it forward if the devil said it was dead.

However, the devil was not to be tripped. When the holy man posed his question, he answered: "As you will."

This story can be used to illustrate the willfulness of the devil. But it has a deeper meaning. We do not go through life carrying little birds in our hands, and we do not play question-and-answer games with the devil.

We do, however, hold precious treasures in our hands, and have other treasures within our reach. These are the spiritual gifts given by God to help man in the struggle toward heaven. The question is: do we want to hold on to these treasures or do we want to exchange them for other things which appear very enticing, but in the end may spell our eternal doom?

In other words, do we put store on the gifts of virtue and grace or rather instead for pleasures and things which are forbidden by God's law? Every one has to decide whether he will live as God directs or as his own inclinations and appetites suggest.

Sargasso Sea
The Sargasso Sea is the name given by oceanographers to the central area of the North Atlantic Ocean, roughly between the West Indies and the Azores. In this is the relative warm central area of water around which moves the great eddy caused by the Gulf Stream and other currents. This center happens to coincide with the distribution of the floating weed known as Sargassum, which collects in the middle of the whirl. Sometimes it may form thick mats, giving the appearance of a solid surface, though it is never thick enough to stop ships, as related in ancient sailors' legends. In other oceans there are similar cores of warm and quite salty water, but as no distinctive weed collects in them, they have no generally accepted names.

U.S. Home Building Strong Despite Controls, Shortages

from SMALL HOME GUIDE

Population Increases Create Pressure

When the census was taken in April, 1950, it showed that for the first time in our history more families were living in United States than were in the rest of the world. In the 10 years between 1940 and 1950, home ownership had made remarkable gains in the United States. The number of owner-occupied homes increased by 71 per cent during the 1940's, compared with an increase of 22 per cent in the number of all occupied dwellings. In cold figures, the number of home-owning families increased in 10 years from less than 11 1/2 million to over 19 1/2 million.

And the figure is increasing daily, according to the editor of Small Homes Guide.

Americans built close to a million homes in 1951, despite the imposition of credit controls, mounting difficulties in obtaining materials, and a severe shortage in mortgage funds.

Pressure for new homes is constantly building up - the heavy demand brought about by the postwar high of 2,500,000 marriages in 1945 never was quite satisfied, and people are still getting married in record-breaking numbers. There are 10 million in the 18-24 age bracket, which was high in 1940, has grown more than a third since then. In 1950 there were nearly one-quarter more children under 10 than in 1940, these age well over half as many more children under 5 in 1950 than in 1940.

High Family Incomes.
At present, unemployment is nearly at a minimum. Family income is at an all-time high. Individual savings are up more than 40% of disposable income in the early part of 1951 to over 9% in the second quarter of 1951 (latest figures available), a rate approaching that of the war period. Many people are saving that money for new homes. The government has set a goal of $50,000,000 for 1952 - same figure originally set for 1951.

TODAY'S meditation

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, March 6

He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal (John 12:25). Read John 12:20-33.

LIKE a diamond with its many sides reflecting light, the cross has different meanings. It stands as a symbol of God's love, His redeeming grace, His power, and His hope. It has a message for every problem and for every emotion.

Religion has sometimes been called "the opiate of the people." And there are those who would like to make it so. They wish to see in the cross a place where their burdens may be dropped, where honest thinking can be forgotten, where hard work may be given up. They fail to see that the cross is also a challenge. God gave Jesus a work to do, and He accepted its challenge.

Perhaps we have so often had the sense of futility because we have overlooked God's challenge to us. Or, seeing it, we have tried to side-step its demands. We have wanted to accept the comfort of the cross without its challenge. Life does not work that way.

Prayer
Our Father, we accept the challenge of the cross. We want to live for Thee, live dangerously if necessary. When we are weak, make us strong. When we are satisfied, awaken us. In the blessed Master's name. Amen.

Thought For The Day
I will live for Him who dared all for me.

BLACK CATS ARE LUCKY!

Nobody cares whether cats are black, brown, white or yellow. People treat them all the same. Certain people aren't as lucky as cats. Their color can get them into trouble. So can their ancestry. Or their religion. Cats don't discriminate because of such things. Many people do. Seems that cats are smarter than many people—as well as luckier! Remember to—ACCEPT OR REJECT PEOPLE ON THEIR INDIVIDUAL WORTH!

20 Killed Maine R

Nine February motorists brought Maine death total to 20 for months of 1952. This 26 deaths in 1951, 1949, for the same two.

Arroostook County, outstanding safety jobs only 13 highway fatalities entire year, added the deaths to January's toll itself, charged with state's 29 1952 victims.

Two coasting fatalities the number of who have been killed slid. Three pedestrians, 1949, and one driver total of February deaths.

The three pedestrians brought to six the number who have been killed this year, as compared during the same period.

There has been a decrease in the number involved in reportable accidents the figure was 31 in January and February, jumped to 5,021 for the months—an increase of 1,000.

When we realize the able accident is one to a fatality, personal injury damage in excess begin to appreciate cost of these highway.

Unusually hazardous situations are, of course, for this marked upswings. However, the cause is one who adapts his existing conditions. Low extreme caution have still are, indicated. For these this caution has a rash of accidents. In Winter, Director, Division & Safety, Maine State.
